Thirdly, Antonio's melancholy creates a sense of mystery for the audience. He was one of the greatest generals in the Trojan War. When Salario would go to the church he would see the holy building made of stone. the scene make him imagine? people are compared to parrots because they laugh even at a bag-piper as foolishly as 'a parrot laughs at anything...'. In the above lines Salario imagines that his rich cargo ship is grounded in sand and her mast dipped down lower than her sides as if trying to kiss the sands that surround her. It is so referred because Salario feels that like the Spanish ship Andrea captured by the British in 1596, his ship too is majestic and rich with cargo. What Salario tells Antonio lliid he is sad because 'his mind is preoccupied with his ships filled with cargo, which are 'out- at' sea.
